11 tips to increase your child's interest in careers

Young people can be unclear about their direction in life. It's often not until their early twenties that they gain a good sense of who they are. Our system, however, asks much younger people to make decisions based on knowing who they are and what they want to achieve in life. They have to select subjects, elective choices and vocational study opportunities. There is a wealth of information about possible choices. People can feel overwhelmed, unable to decide or lose interest in the whole 'careers thing'. Finding out who you are and what you want to do is a process that depends on many factors. Click here to read about 11 strategies that may assist you and your child including:

1. Stay calm and open-minded
2. Be a positive influence
3. Encourage your child to talk to other adults about their careers
4. Watch movies and television together
5. Talk about the people you know or those you meet in your day-to-day activities
6. Do things together
7. Ask your child what would they choose if they could be or do anything in the whole world
8. Make it easy for your child to participate in work experience programs
9. Encourage your child to participate in activities at school or in the community
10. If your child is ready, encourage them to seek a part-time job
11. Start to build your career profile

An Arts, Communication, Humanities and Social Science degrees - where can they take you?

The world of work is changing - again! UQ report that in 2030, skills such as problem-solving, critical thinking and communication will be of prime importance to potential employers. Careers often go in surprising and unpredictable directions, so take the opportunity to explore your ideas and turn today's passion into tomorrow's profession. An Arts, Communication, Humanities or Social Sciences degree could take you to a career in Administration, Advertising, Art Galleries and Museums, Conducting, Consumer Affairs, Crime Prevention, Customs and Immigration, Digital Communications and Marketing, Diplomacy and Foreign Affairs, Environmental Protection and Management, Event Coordination, Festivals and Events, Film, Television and Radio, Foreign Affairs, Fundraising, Human Resource Management, Humanitarian Services, Information Management and Technology, Insurance, Interactive Multimedia Design, International Development, International Relations, Journalism, Marketing, Media and Entertainment, Mediation and Dispute Resolution, Music Composition, Music Industry positions, Music Teaching, Music Therapy (with further study), Music Writing and Reviewing, Politics, Public Affairs, Publicity and Public Relations, Publishing, Recreation and Leisure, Social Media Strategy, Social Services, Sociology, Translation and Interpretation, Travel and Tourism, Writing and Youth Justice. Career ladders can help boost your Career Ideas list

The Careers Ladders on the Good Universities Guide website covers 32 school subjects and related jobs of interest. Each Career Ladder lists jobs in four levels according to the minimum training required:

- Level 1 - Year 10, Senior Secondary Certificate of Education (e.g. Queensland Certificate of Education) or Certificate I or II
- Level 2 - Certificate III or IV, or relevant experience
- Level 3 - Diploma or Advanced Diploma
- Level 4 - Bachelor Degree or higher.

How to use the Career Ladders to develop your Career Ideas list:

- Scan all the Career Ladders and select those subjects that interest you.
- Scan the jobs listed in the four levels of your selected Career Ladders (you might choose to concentrate on one level). Choose jobs you are interested in finding out more about, click the link to find out about:
 - How to become a ...
 - Personal requirements
 - Related courses
 - Related careers
 - Duties and Tasks (The Job tab)

The jobs you are interested in can be explored further by interviewing or doing work observation with people already in these jobs, doing work experience in the jobs and/or investigating the education/training you need to get into the jobs. Don't leave it till the second half of Year 12 to start your research!

Could Architecture, Design and Urban Planning be an options?

If you're wondering how to choose a degree when you don't even know what type of career you want, UQ's biggest tip is to think about what you're passionate about, such as:

- What makes you want to get out of bed in the morning?
- What do you enjoy doing in your free time?
- What can you talk about endlessly without getting bored or running out of steam?

They've put together a list of careers you can pursue with specific degrees at UQ. They've also spoken with recent graduates to get the lowdown on what they're doing now, what they love most about their jobs and what exactly, their roles involve on a daily basis. Click here to find out more about Architecture, Design and Urban Planning related degrees.

There's more than one path to university

The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) is just one way Universities select students for their courses. Most Universities offer alternative entry pathways for people who:

- didn't get the ATAR needed for standard admission.
- didn't get an ATAR at all.

Perhaps your education was disrupted, your family circumstances and responsibilities reduced the amount of time you could dedicate to study, you chose subjects that meant you were ineligible for an ATAR or your ATAR was not competitive enough. Whatever the case, there are other ways you can apply for university. Click here to read Your Career's options if you find yourself in this position including:

- What is an ATAR?
- Other pathways to university
 - Enrol in a non-degree or bridging course first
 - Enrol in an undergraduate certificate course
 - Try vocational education and training (VET)
- More pathways to university
- Support for school leavers and young people

National Awards for Disability Leadership nominations now open

National Awards for Disability Leadership nominations are now open and close on Friday 25 October. They recognise outstanding achievements by individuals, or disabled people’s organisations, who have significantly contributed to advancing the status of disabled people. Disability leaders will be acknowledged across seven categories reflecting the diversity of this community and the intersectional* nature of their lives in:

1. The Arts – advancing the status of disabled people through artistic expression.
2. Change Making – achieving greater equality for disabled people by changing policy, programs or legislation.
3. Rights Activism – advancing the status of disabled people by using human rights mechanisms including the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
4. Innovation – achieving outcomes to the status of disabled people by working outside the box, developing new systems, technology and/or tools.

5. Social Impact – achieving visibility of disabled people by using mainstream or social media or other digital interfaces.
6. Inclusion – illustrating the intersectional diversity of disabled people by designing processes, systems or programs.
7. The Lesley Hall Award for Lifetime Achievement – awarded to an individual who has shown commitment to the disability rights movement and worked overtime to achieve significant outcomes for disabled people.

Click here for the nomination form.

(*intersectional means being disabled alongside one or more of the following: gender, LGBTIQ, Indigenous, culturally or linguistically diverse, or young).

Online profiles are important

When you are applying for a job, employers will check your online profile to:

- confirm that what you've said about yourself in your application fits what you show online
- understand your interests, abilities and attitude to life
- find out if you have an existing network of professional contacts.

Using social media in a positive and constructive way can actually help you get a job. Your passion for a good cause, your love of music or your entertaining blog, all say something about you and what you have to offer. In JobJumpstart's article Impress employers with your online profile, they explain how to protect your online profile and provide some tools that can help.

Griffith University's Open Day at Nathan and Gold Coast campuses

On 11 August 2024 from 9am – 2pm, Griffith will be holding their Open Day at both their Gold Coast and Nathan campuses. Explore a world of possibilities with over 150 activities, workshops and information sessions to choose from. Whether you're curious about science, business, arts or health, there will be information for you. Click here to register and reserve your place.

How to start a conversation at Open Day

The following will give you some ideas when you are speaking with university staff and students. When you have some key questions, it's not difficult talking with someone you don't know.

What to do on the day

In and amongst the freebies, food and entertainment, there are a few key things you should do on the day.

- Take a tour of the campus and facilities
- Collect brochures, course guides and other useful information for further reading
- Talk to students and staff and ask plenty of questions
- Attend information sessions for courses or faculties of interest

Key questions to ask staff and students about courses

- What are the entry requirements? Are there any prerequisite subjects or additional requirements (such as a portfolio or interview)?

- How much time can you expect to spend in classes each week? How many hours will need to be dedicated to study outside of class?
- What are the most common forms of assessment (for example: exams, group projects or essays)?
- Where are graduates of the course working now? What are some typical career paths?
- Are there opportunities for practical learning, work experience or internships?
- Are there any pathway options to help you gain entry to the course?
- Does the course offer a pathway to further study?
- Are double degrees available?
- Does the university have any industry connections in the field?
- How much choice is there in subject selection? Are there opportunities to study elective subjects?

Key questions to ask staff and students about the university

- What facilities are available on campus?
- What support services are offered to students?
- Are there accommodation options on campus or nearby?
- Does the university offer any scholarships?
- Does the university have any exchange agreements with institutions overseas?
- Does the university provide assistance with finding work after graduation?

Key questions to ask staff and students about student life

- What clubs and societies are on offer?
- Are there opportunities to socialise on campus?
- Is there a student union? What services and activities does the union coordinate?

Other things to consider

- Getting there: Is the campus easy to get to? Can you catch public transport? If you plan to drive, what are the parking options around the campus?
- Accommodation: For those planning on moving out of home to study, consider having a look around the local area for potential neighbourhoods to live in or take a tour of on-campus accommodation.
- Facilities: What facilities are available on and around campus? Look at food options, gyms, banks, medical centres, libraries and any other facilities you consider important. It's also worth investigating the practical facilities available for your course, such as laboratories and studios.

IBAS Combined Rank Schedule

QTAC Selection Ranks and ATARs both have scales from 0.00 to 99.95. This means that IB graduates receiving an IBAS that equates to a QTAC Selection Rank of 99.75 on the Combined Schedule, will be considered for tertiary admissions alongside students who received an ATAR of 99.75.

Students with a completed IB Diploma are considered for tertiary study through QTAC on the basis of having met 'Eligibility', requirements (minimum course entry for their desired tertiary course, such as subject prerequisites, auditions, portfolios or interviews) and 'Merit', QTAC Selection Rank (In this case IB Diploma, other examples are ATAR and VET Qualifications). Find more information and the new Combined Rank conversion table here to determine a QTAC Selection Rank from an IBAS.

Rumours, Myths and legends from QTAC

Rumour: The Queensland ATAR can include other inputs like IB subjects, Music and Dance qualifications, Certificate I and II qualifications...

Reality: The ATAR only include General subjects, Applied Subject, Completed VET qualifications at Certificate III level and higher. The ATAR must include at least 4 General subjects.

Rumour: Some Mathematics subjects scale better for ATARs.

Reality: The difficulty of a subject has nothing to do with how well it will scale! How a subject scales is dependent on the achievement of students in all their subjects (including their Mathematics subject).

Rumour: It is possible to game the system to get the highest ATAR

Reality: The ATAR is entirely data driven. ATAR is a rank, so if a student's results place them in the top percentile, then they will get the top ATAR.

Myths and Legends: Can certain subjects like Physics increase a student's ATAR?

Reality: NO - A student can only maximise their ATAR by performing well in all their subjects.

Myth and Legends: What pattern of subjects will guarantee an ATAR of 99.95?

Reality: The ATAR is entirely data driven, so if a student's results place them in the top percentile, then they will get the top ATAR regardless of the subjects they do.

Myths and Legends: I will only get an ATAR if I apply to QTAC for tertiary entry.

Reality: No, QTAC will calculate an ATAR for all students who have qualified and registered for an ATAR, even if they are not applying for tertiary entry

Myths and Legends I will not qualify for an ATAR so higher education is closed off to me.

Reality: Some tertiary courses are accessible without a formal tertiary ranking like ATAR. There are other pathways to tertiary study, including via VET. Check with the institutions/Unis you are interested in to see what they pathway options are.

What senior subjects should you study to gain an excellent ATAR

Year 10 students and their parents often ask this question. The answer is, the subjects that you enjoy, have had past success in and meet any future tertiary course prerequisites. You want to get to the end of Year 12, receive your results and be able to say to yourself that they are the best results you could get while maintaining life balance and wellbeing. Your ATAR is just a tool used by QTAC for competitive entry into tertiary institution courses. It is NOT an indication of your 'intelligence' and future success and happiness in life.

External assessment

The purpose of assessment is to improve your learning and provide opportunities for you to show what you know and can do. The way that your learning is assessed depends on the subjects you study. Read more about the external assessment of subjects including:

Study Skills and Wellbeing

6 common study mistakes and how to fix them

Emily Morantz from The University of British Columbia (yes in Canada!) has put together some study tips that may assist you to study more effectively and avoid the 'big cram' just before exams ... and wouldn't that be a sweet spot! Although the article is written for Uni students, her tips are great for all students. Click here to read about the solutions to the following problems:

1. The Marathon - You find a comfortable spot to study and refuse to move ever again. You don't even think about taking a break as that would be a waste of time. Don't you know this assignment is due in 16 hours?
2. The Full-Page Highlight - You try to study by reading the textbook but somehow end up highlighting everything and remembering nothing.
3. The Multitasker - You try to do work for all of your classes at the same time by constantly switching back and forth between projects. This one is particularly common during finals.
4. The Media Frenzy - You study while texting your friends, checking 10 different social media tabs, listening to loud music (or worse, watching Netflix) and looking at your phone every 5 seconds as it buzzes away on your desk.
5. The Solo Mission - You only ever study in solitude and refuse to ask anyone else for help.
6. The Full-Out Panic - You suddenly realise how much work you have to do and completely freak out, ripping up pages and curling into a ball under your desk.

A high school senior on stress, career advice and what comes next

Your Senior year of high school can be an exciting yet overwhelming time. The weight of the future is ever-present as you grapple with the question of what to do after Year 12. A gap year? University or an apprenticeship? Those aspiring to attend post-secondary must navigate the selection of a program, institution and QTAC applications. It can feel like pressure is coming from all directions – parental expectations, teacher guidance, personal dreams and the inevitable comparisons to peers.

To better understand what it's like to navigate this pivotal milestone in 2023, Canadian CareerWise Editor, Lindsay Purchase interviewed high school senior Arianna Chua about how it feels to think about life after high school, their experience of career education and their advice for their peers. Click here to read her article and although Canadian, the emotions and situations are similar to those Australian students experience.

Life skills are important!

Life skills are talked about a lot but not often explained. 'Life skills' is a term used to describe a set of basic skills acquired through learning and/or direct life experience that enable you to effectively handle issues and problems commonly encountered in daily life. The following are some ways that could help you recognise and develop your own set of life skills (source unknown):

1. Building a Good Attitude: Stay positive, hungry, humble and do whatever it takes.
2. Taking Initiative: If you're willing to go first, others will see you as a leader.
3. Capturing Vision: See the big picture and pursue something bigger than you.
4. Communicating Effectively: Understand that if listeners don't get it, you haven't communicated well.
5. Teamwork: To go faster, travel alone. To go further, learn to travel together.
6. Creativity: Learn the art of combining two existing ideas to generate a new one.
7. Grit: Resilience and work ethic can replace what you lack in talent or personality.
8. Emotional Intelligence: To connect with others, understand yourself and them.
9. Resourcefulness: Searching and finding new answers keeps you relevant.
10. Critical Thinking: Seeing all sides of an issue enables you to act intelligently.
11. Problem-solving: The best way to influence is to serve people and solve problems.
12. Getting Over Yourself: The clearest sign of maturity is focusing on others.

Pre-Apprenticeship courses

Pre-apprenticeship training is an entry-level certificate made up of theoretical and practical training at one of TAFE Queensland's campuses, as well as hands-on work experience in your chosen industry. What is procrastination?

Procrastination involves putting off a task or goal and doing something that's less important instead. It's important to know that procrastination is a normal part of human behaviour. Although it's a common challenge for many of us, everyone procrastinates at some point or another. Try and remember that procrastination is not "laziness" or a personal flaw!

Nonetheless, if you're finding that procrastination is repeatedly getting in the way of your progress in study or work or leads to feelings of stress and feeling overwhelmed, there are effective ways to better manage it. Click here to read more from Melbourne Uni about how to manage procrastination and if necessary, speak to your guidance officer or school counsellor who can help with strategies that will help you to avoid procrastinating:

- Why do I procrastinate?
- How do I stop procrastinating?
- What can I do next?

Why am I so tired you may ask!

Year 13 has an interesting article on some of the reasons you may be stressed, running out of energy and not getting things done on time or at all! Although we are all individuals, the article outlines some of the common reasons why young people can always feel tired and struggle to meet their family, school and work commitments. Click here to read what they say but if you are struggling it is best to speak with your school Guidance Officer/Counsellor or family doctor:

- You're skipping meals
- You're not giving yourself long enough breaks
- You're not getting enough sleep
- You're getting too much sleep
- You're leaving the hardest work to the latest time at night

VET qualifications for tertiary selection

Successfully completed VET qualifications, at a certificate III level or higher, may be used for tertiary selection in two ways:

- an input into an Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR), and/or
- a stand-alone qualification for tertiary admission at some universities (may apply to non-ATAR eligible applicants)

Education institutions may allocate a selection rank depending on the level of VET qualification completed. Click here to see a guide (scroll down) to the approximate selection rank allocated to each level of qualification. Contact your preferred university or institution to confirm their current guidelines regarding VET admissions. Additional admissions policies may also apply for recent Year 12 graduates with completed VET qualifications, such as meeting prerequisites. For more information visit the QTAC website.

Additional entry requirements for Nursing and/or Midwifery

To enrol in Nursing and/or Midwifery at any university you must meet the following educational requirements:

- You must have attended and satisfactorily completed at least 6 years of primary and/or secondary education taught and assessed solely in English.
- At least two years of this education must have been between grades 7 and 12.
- This education must have been completed in one of the following countries: Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Republic of Ireland, South Africa, United Kingdom, United States of America.

If you do not meet these educational requirements, you are required to provide evidence of an acceptable English Language test. For more information see English Language Proficiency.

Bond University

Can I use a VET qualification for entry?

If you complete a VET qualification in school and successfully complete Year 12 (with or without an ATAR), Bond will consider your VET qualification for admission. You may be required to demonstrate English language proficiency by passing the English subject with a grade of C or better, or by undertaking an English proficiency test and achieving the required scores for entry. If you have also attained an ATAR, Bond University will consider the higher ranked of the two qualifications (ATAR or VET) for admission. Advanced standing (credit) may be provided in a similar undergraduate degree. Click here, scroll down to alternate entry points for more information.

SPARQ-ed Senior Research Immersion Program

SPARQ-ed Senior Research Immersion is a five-day learning experience in the September holidays, designed to immerse Year 10, 11 and 12 students in biomedical research. They will work as a team to answer a real research question designed by researchers working at the Translational Research Institute. Regional students may apply for a SPARQ-ed LMRF Scholarship to assist with travel and accommodation costs.

Students may also apply for an ATAR adjustment factor for entry into select UQ courses. Applications close on 29 July and click here to find out more and to register.

UQ Ready

Join UQ in person or online for an informative night that will provide you with everything you need for a smooth transition from high school to university. Click here for upcoming event information and registration information including:

- 10 July Toowoomba
- 30 July Townsville
- 1 August Gold Coast

UQ Sport and their Elite Athlete program

The University of Queensland (UQ) is an elite athlete friendly university which supports more than 300 student-athletes, including Olympians, Paralympians, Commonwealth Games and Professional athletes. Eligible athletes can apply for 'elite athlete status' which gives them access to academic considerations through Reasonable Adjustments – Students Procedures. Once approved for elite athlete status, student-athletes can access the UQ Sport Elite Athlete Program (EAP). Click here for more information and application details.

What can I do with my ATAR?

Your ATAR makes you competitive for entry into university programs and other pathways. Undergraduate degrees have different ATAR/tertiary selection rank requirements. Most UQ undergraduate programs show a minimum ATAR threshold as part of their entry requirements. If you're not entirely sure which course you want to pursue, it might be helpful to get a broad idea of which doors are open to you with your ATAR/ranking.
