Announcements

Fortnight Joke

I was a dentist for a while, but it was like pulling teeth.

Thought for the fortnight

Always remember that everything happens for a reason. It might not make sense now but at the right time it will.

Apprenticeships & Traineeships

Apprenticeship Central

Apprenticeships and traineeships let you earn a nationally recognised qualification while getting real work experience with an employer. You'll learn practical, industry skills, get paid and make valuable contacts for the future. Some are part-time and can be started while you are still at school, usually involving one paid workday each week. Full-time apprentices and trainees also complete training alongside their on-the-job learning. Check out Apprenticeship Central for more info and apprenticeship and traineeship opportunities.

Apprenticeships with the Department of Transport and Main Roads

Queensland Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) and RoadTek offers apprenticeships and traineeships that let you combine paid work with structured training while completing a nationally recognised qualification. Opportunities are available for school students, school leavers and mature-age applicants, with both full-time and part-time pathways available. Click here to explore apprenticeship and traineeship opportunities through TMR.

Australian Apprenticeships Priority List

Thinking about an Apprenticeship? The Australian Apprenticeships Priority List lists the Apprenticeships that are in demand in 2026 ... and there are lots of them. Click here to download the Apprenticeship Priority list.

Busy Sisters mentoring supporting women in the trades

The BUSY Sisters program supports women starting apprenticeships and trades in industries that are traditionally male dominated. Funded by the Australian Government, the program offers mentoring, resources and a supportive network of other women beginning their trade careers. Support is available for the first 6 months to help build confidence and settle into the workplace. Click here (scroll down) to find out more, including:

- About BUSY Sisters
- What is a non-traditional trade?

Group Training Organisations - Why register?

Registering with a Group Training Organisation (GTO) can be a great way to find an apprenticeship or traineeship. GTOs employ apprentices and trainees, then place them with host employers while you complete your training. They can also provide extra support and help you gain experience in different workplaces. Here you will learn more about GTOs and visit the National Apprentice Employment Network website to find a GTO near you.

Living away from home allowance (LAFHA)

The Living Away from Home Allowance (LAFHA) is an allowance for eligible Australian Apprentices who have to move away from their parents' or guardians' home to take up or retain an Australian Apprenticeship. This allowance is available to eligible full-time and part-time apprentices during the first three years of their apprenticeship. LAFHA is paid in arrears at the following rates:

- First 12-month period from the date of commencement: $120.00 per week
- Second 12-month period: $90.00 per week
- Third 12-month period: $45.00 per week

More info here.

Thoroughbred Breeders Australia Fast Track traineeship program

A small number of applicants will be selected for this 12-month program, which combines full-time paid work with formal training. Successful applicants will work at a respected stud farm while completing a nationally recognised Certificate III in Horse Breeding. Throughout the program, trainees gain hands-on experience and attend two intensive training blocks to build the knowledge needed to support their on-farm learning. More info and application details here.

Australian Defence Force (ADF) Jobs

If you are thinking about joining the Australian Defence Force but are not sure which jobs might suit you, visit the home page and select 'Choose from over 300 roles' to start exploring. Each role includes information about:

Career Exploration

11 tips to increase your child's interest in careers

Many young people are unsure about their future direction, and that's completely normal. Often, it's not until their early twenties that they develop a clearer sense of who they are and what they want to do. With so much career information available, it's easy to feel overwhelmed or lose interest in the whole "careers" process. Exploring career ideas is a journey that takes time and is influenced by many different factors. Click here to read about 11 strategies that may help you and your child, including more information about:

1. Stay calm and open-minded
2. Be a positive influence
3. Encourage your child to talk to other adults about their careers
4. Watch movies and television together
5. Talk about the people you know or those you meet in your day-to-day activities
6. Do things together
7. Ask your child what they would choose if they could be or do anything in the whole world
8. Make it easy for your child to participate in work experience programs
9. Encourage your child to participate in activities at school or in the community
10. If your child is ready, encourage them to seek a part-time job
11. Start to build your career profile

A new website for career advice

If you're looking for career ideas, the new Your Career website may give you some ideas and help. The website includes:

- career quizzes to explore possible future careers
- education or training options to help you upskill or reskill
- Career Bullseye posters to help young people choose their school subjects based on what jobs they can lead to
- an A to Z of occupations, including detailed job descriptions, average pay and job opportunities

Career exploration at home

To continue your career exploration at home, myfuture has a list of resources for parents and students. They provide links to websites, activity sheets, videos and more. Check them out here.

Career quiz

The University of Southern Queensland Career Explorer can help you discover study areas where your talents and interests may flourish. In just five minutes, you can answer a few short questions to explore career options that match your interests, strengths and preferences. It's a great way to start investigating possible career pathways from a university perspective. Click on "I am new to USQ" to begin.

Chart your career path from training to employment

The Training Occupation Pathways (TOP) dataset is a new resource developed by Jobs and Skills Australia (JSA). TOP connects VET qualifications to occupations using data analysis and advice from Jobs and Skills Councils and other industry stakeholders. It highlights how the skills and knowledge gained through training can apply to different jobs and career pathways. The dataset shows possible direct and indirect pathways into occupations, but it does not predict or guarantee actual student employment outcomes. Find TOP here!

Job Search basics workbook

The Job search basics workbook is an interactive digital resource providing a range of activities and information to help you with your job search. The workbook aims to:

- help you to understand your work preferences and skills and what you have to offer employers
- provide practical information to help you research employers you want to work for and
- help you to tailor job applications and prepare for interviews.

The workbook has four chapters, each offering interactive exercises and activities to help you build your job search skills:

- Know what you want and can offer
- Understanding employers
- Your job application
- Interviews

There are videos and articles that tell you more about each of the topics. Click here to find out more. Be informed to be confident!

Work experience is a good idea

The best way to find out what a job is really like is to try it for yourself. A lot of people forget this when making career decisions.

You can explore jobs by:

- doing work observation/shadowing for a day or two
- completing work experience
- volunteering
- getting part-time or casual work
- joining groups like Air Force Cadets or St John Ambulance Cadets
- taking part in career programs and projects such as Engineering Link.

Trying a job can help you:

- learn what the job is really like
- build hands-on skills and experience
- understand what workplaces are like outside school
- gain referees for your resume
- make contacts that may help you find work in the future.

Your school Guidance Officer/Counsellor or VET Coordinator can help organise work experience. You can also read the tips on the myfuture website.

Your work preferences do matter

Knowing yourself can make job searching much easier. Understanding your work preferences helps you find jobs, workplaces and industries that suit you best. Think about:

- whether you enjoy working indoors or outdoors
- if you prefer working alone or with others
- whether you like creative or analytical tasks
- if you enjoy practical, hands-on work or more research and theory-based activities.

Understanding what suits you can help you focus on jobs that match your strengths and interests. Check out the following on the myfuture website:

- Knowing your values
- Why work
- Job satisfaction

Competitions

Bond University Film and Television Awards (BUFTA) Short Film Competition

Bond University Film and Television Awards (BUFTA) is a short film competition for aspiring filmmakers from Years 11 and 12. There are 8 categories in the competition – Animation, Art Film, Comedy, Documentary, Drama, Experimental, Music Video and Sport. Entries are now open and close on 7 September 2026. Visit the BUFTA website for competition and application details and to view the 2025 BUFTA entries. Scroll down and find their 'top tips for entering BUFTA'. Also check out the right-hand side navigation bar.

ReelOzInd – Short film competition

Details are on the ReelOzInd website and entries close on 1 August 2026.

Disabilities

Griffith University disability support services

The Student Disability and Accessibility Unit at Griffith University supports students with disabilities, injuries and health conditions studying through Griffith University, Griffith College and Open Universities Australia. Their goal is to improve student participation, access, success and support within learning environments. They support students with a wide range of conditions, including:

- neurodiverse conditions such as autism, ADHD, dyslexia and auditory processing disorders
- hearing impairments
- temporary injuries such as broken or sprained limbs, or recovery from surgery or injury
- medical conditions including epilepsy, arthritis, diabetes, multiple sclerosis, neurological conditions and chronic pain
- mental health conditions such as anxiety, depression and bipolar disorder
- mobility issues including back injuries, spinal cord injuries and musculoskeletal conditions
- vision impairments.

Whether your condition is permanent, temporary, episodic or well-managed, it can still be valuable to explore the support available while studying. It is recommended that students contact the unit before applying to discuss their individual needs and available support options. More info available here.

How AI Is Enhancing Creativity, Not Replacing It

Whenever a new technology enters the creative industries, the same concern tends to surface: How is this going to impact artists and their creativity? Artificial intelligence is the latest focus of that fear. But if we look at how creativity has evolved over time, a different (and more optimistic) pattern emerges – historically, new tools don't erase creative practice; they actually enhance it. Find out how AI is helping, not hindering, and why there's no need to panic - READ MORE, WATCH HERE!

Resume 101

A “resume” is a word you’ll hear often during the job search process. A resume, sometimes called a CV or curriculum vitae, is a document that outlines your work experience, education, skills and achievements. You’ll need a resume for most job applications, as it helps employers decide whether you may be suitable for a role and whether they would like to invite you to an interview. Click for some helpful tips from SEEK including:

- What should my resume include?
- How long should my resume be?
- What should it look like?
- What to leave out

VET Myths and Facts

Australia’s vocational education and training (VET) sector delivers strong outcomes for students, industry and the wider economy. However, public perceptions of VET pathways are often very different from the reality of the opportunities and success the sector provides. People often talk about university pathways and VET can sometimes be overlooked as an important post-school option. As a result, many students may not fully explore the valuable career pathways, practical skills and employment opportunities that vocational education can offer. Find out answers to myths and more facts here:

- Myth #1 VET graduates earn low wages
- Fact: VET graduates earn wages comparable to, if not exceeding, that of university graduates
- Myth #2 VET graduates struggle to find work
- Fact: VET graduates have a higher employment rate than undergraduates. More than 78% of VET graduates are employed after training
- Myth #3 VET is a thing of the past
- Fact: VET courses have adapted more readily to changing workforce needs

What is a portfolio career?

A portfolio career is when you earn money from a mix of jobs, projects and/or businesses instead of working for just one company. It's a flexible way to use your skills and interests and is becoming more popular around the world. Read Ben Legg's blog and find out more.

Financial Assistance & Scholarships

Donald Napier Scholarships for quality surveyors

Each year, the Australian Institute of Quantity Surveyors (AIQS) offers partial scholarships to students starting an AIQS-accredited university degree in Australia. Thanks to the generosity of the late Donald Napier, these scholarships help support future quantity surveying professionals as they begin their university journey. More info and details here.

How student loans work

Higher education students may be able to get a Higher Education Loan Program (HELP) loan from the Australian Government to help cover study costs now and pay it back later. Get organised and explore your options early including:

Youth Allowance - Are you eligible?

Government payments and allowances can sometimes be confusing, so it's a good idea to book an appointment with your local Centrelink office to talk through your options. One payment you may be eligible for is Youth Allowance. This payment helps support young people while they study, train or look for work. You may be eligible if you are:

- 16–21 and looking for full-time work
- 18–24 and studying full-time
- 16–24 and completing a full-time Australian Apprenticeship
- 16–17 and independent or needing to live away from home to study
- 16–17, studying full-time and have completed Year 12 (or equivalent)

For more information, including payment rates, visit the Department of Human Services website.

First Nations Peoples

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workforce

The Australian Government's Health Department is working to increase the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people working in healthcare. QTAC & Tertiary Entry

Application requirements

Make sure you check important application details like minimum age requirements, English subject prerequisites, English language requirements and any course-specific entry scores, prerequisites, auditions, portfolios or fees. Reviewing these early can help make your QTAC application smoother and bring you one step closer to your study goals. Check them out on the individual University websites.

What are minimum selection thresholds? Why you need to check!

The minimum selection threshold is the lowest adjusted ATAR/rank that received an offer for a course in the January 2026 offer round. These scores can change each year depending on how many people apply and their results. Click here to find the Semester 1 2026 minimum selection thresholds for all Queensland university and TAFE courses. It is a good idea to check them out as they will assist you in researching and ordering your application's preferences.

Check out your myQCE

Queensland Curriculum and Assessment Authority has great tools and information to help you stay organised during school. Year 12 students should register for the Student Portal, where you can access your learning information, check personal details, view your learning account and receive your final Year 12 results. More info and rego details here.

Literacy and Numeracy requirements for Queensland Certificate of Education (QCE) in 2026

To receive a QCE, you must complete enough learning at the required standard, follow the correct study pattern and meet literacy and numeracy requirements. These requirements help make sure you leave school with important skills for work, training and further study.

- The most common way to meet the literacy requirement is by studying QCAA English subjects such as English, Literature or Essential English.
- The most common way to meet the numeracy requirement is by studying QCAA Maths subjects such as General Mathematics, Mathematical Methods, Specialist Mathematics or Essential Mathematics.

It's important to understand these requirements when choosing your senior subjects. Click here to explore other literacy and numeracy options, including International Baccalaureate pathways.

Study Skills and Wellbeing

How to get a high ATAR

Want to do your best in high school but struggling to stay organised? The University of Queensland has shared some useful study and time management tips for students. Find their article here, including the following tips:

- Managing your time
- Putting in the effort
- Looking after yourself
- Striking a study/life balance
- Asking for help
- Maintaining your motivation
- Taking good notes
- Believing in yourself

Study Skills Checklist

Everyone learns differently, so it's important to find study methods that work best for you. Education Corner recommends starting with their study skills checklist. Read each statement and tick Y if it sounds like you or N if it doesn't. The checklist can help you understand your study habits, spot areas to improve and maybe even give you a few "light bulb" moments. If you need extra support, tips or strategies, chat with your Guidance Officer or School Counsellor.

Take care of yourself

Looking after yourself can help you perform better at school. Activities like sport, dance, walking or yoga can boost focus, reduce stress and improve wellbeing. A little stress can help keep you motivated but too much stress — especially during Yr 12 and exams — can affect your performance. Ways to manage stress:

- Relaxation apps like Smiling Mind
- Planning your time and prioritising tasks
- Talking with friends, family or people you trust
- Taking breaks and making time for things you enjoy

Click here for more wellbeing tips. If you're feeling very stressed, anxious or overwhelmed, talk to your Guidance Officer, School Counsellor, family or doctor.

Fee-Free TAFE

Build job-ready skills in high-demand areas like aged care, community services, cyber security, early childhood education and healthcare with Fee-Free TAFE. With a range of certificates, diplomas and skill sets available, now's a great time to explore your options. Places are limited and courses may change as new funded training opportunities become available. Find out more here including:

International students

As an international student, there are two easy ways to enroll with TAFE Queensland.:

1. You can apply directly through their online portal.
2. Depending on your nationality, you may be able to apply through an authorised Education Agents who can assist you with your TAFE Queensland application and guide you through the enrolment process.

If you are under the age of 18 you will only be accepted where you demonstrate that you will be accompanied by a parent, legal custodian or a suitable relative who is aged 21 or over or you arrange accommodation with a Homestay family. For more information visit Department of Home Affairs website. Click here for more information. They will update information throughout the year so it is best to keep checking in with TAFE.

TAFE at School

Get a head start on your future with TAFE at School. You can complete a nationally recognised qualification while still at school, helping you become job ready and build pathways into future study or careers. TAFE courses usually replace one senior subject and fit around the school timetable.

2027 enrolments open in July 2026 and places can fill quickly, so talk to your VET Coordinator, Guidance Officer or School Counsellor to get started. More information and application details here.
